(c) by the deletion of subsection (5).

4. AREAS OF DISAGREEMENT

In respect of the following proposed amendment contained in the Constitution Seventeenth Amendment Bill [B6-11]

“Amendment of section 168 of the Constitution, as amended by section 12 of Constitution Sixth Amendment Act of 2001

4. Section 168 of the Constitution is hereby amended by the substitution for subsection (3) of the following subsection:

"(3) (a) The Supreme Court of Appeal may decide appeals in any matter arising from the High Court of South Africa or a court of a status similar to the High Court of South Africa, unless an Act of Parliament provides otherwise.

(b) The Supreme Court of Appeal may decide only—

(i) appeals;

(ii) issues connected with appeals; and

(iii) any other matter that may be referred to it in circumstances defined by an Act of Parliament.".

organised business and labour hold different views on the jurisdiction of the Supreme Court of Appeal as stipulated in section 167(2) of the Labour Relations Act 66 of 1995. Section 167(2) of the Labour Relations Act provides that:

“The Labour Appeal Court is the final court of appeal in respect of all judgments and orders made by the Labour Court in respect of the matters within its exclusive jurisdiction.”

Organised business is of the view that the Supreme Court of Appeal has jurisdiction to hear appeals from the Labour Appeal Court in certain circumstances (as the Supreme Court of Appeal itself has held in a number of decisions) whereas organised labour holds the view that the Labour Appeal Court ought to be the final court of appeal in all instances.

This issue is currently subject to negotiation in NEDLAC as part of the broader NEDLAC negotiations on a range of provisions of various labour laws, including the Labour Relations Act.

During the meeting between the Department of Justice and Constitutional Development and NEDLAC on 22 June 2011, organised labour was of the view that:

- the Labour Relations Act stipulates that the Labour Appeal Court is the highest appeal court and oust the Supreme Court of Appeal and
- the jurisdiction of the labour courts, the common and contractual law should be included in Schedule 2 of the Superior Courts Bill [B7-2011].

However, organised business and Government were of the view that these two issues (i.e. the extent of the jurisdiction of the Labour Court and whether the Supreme Court of Appeal could have jurisdiction to hear an appeal against a judgment of the Labour Appeal Court) must be dealt with as part of the current NEDLAC negotiations on amendments to the Labour Relations Act.

5. CONCLUSION

5.1. This report therefore concludes the consideration of the Superior Courts Bill [B7-2011] and the Constitution Seventeenth Amendment Bill [B6-2011] at NEDLAC. The report is submitted to the Ministers of Labour and of Justice and Constitutional Development in terms of Section 8 of the Nedlac Act, No. 35 of 1994.

5.2. It is acknowledged that the Nedlac parties may continue to advocate their views in the public consultation and other structured processes such as the ongoing NEDLAC negotiations on various provisions of the labour laws, including the Labour Relations Act.

B I L L

To rationalise, consolidate and amend the laws relating to the Constitutional Court, the Supreme Court of Appeal and the High Court of South Africa; to make provision for the administration of the judicial functions of all courts; to make provision for administrative and budgetary matters relating to the Superior Courts; and to provide for matters incidental thereto.

PREAMBLE

WHEREAS section 1 of the Constitution of the Republic of South Africa, 1996, provides that the supremacy of the Constitution and the rule of law form part of the founding values of the Republic;

AND WHEREAS section 165 of the Constitution provides that—

- (a) the judicial authority of the Republic is vested in the courts;
- (b) the courts are independent and subject only to the Constitution and the law, which they must apply impartially and without fear, favour or prejudice;
- (c) no person or organ of state may interfere with the functioning of the courts;
- (d) organs of state, through legislative and other measures, must assist and protect the courts to ensure the independence, impartiality, dignity, accessibility and effectiveness of the courts;
- (e) an order or decision by a court binds all persons to whom and all organs of state to which it applies; and
- (f) the Chief Justice is the head of the judiciary and exercises responsibility over the establishment and monitoring of norms and standards for the exercise of the judicial functions of all courts;

AND WHEREAS section 166 of the Constitution provides that the courts are—

- (a) the Constitutional Court;
- (b) the Supreme Court of Appeal;
- (c) the High Court of South Africa;
- (d) the Lower Courts; and
- (e) any other court established or recognised in terms of an Act of Parliament, including any court of a status similar to either the High Court or the Lower Courts;

AND WHEREAS section 171 of the Constitution provides that all courts function in terms of national legislation, and their rules and procedures must be provided for in terms of national legislation;

AND WHEREAS section 180 of the Constitution provides that national legislation may provide for any matter concerning the administration of justice that is not dealt with in the Constitution;

AND WHEREAS item 16(6)(a) of Schedule 6 to the Constitution provides that as soon as practical after the Constitution took effect all courts, including their structure, composition, functioning and jurisdiction, and all relevant legislation, must be rationalised with a view to establishing a judicial system suited to the requirements of the Constitution;

AND NOTING that, with the advent of the democratic constitutional dispensation in 1994, the Republic inherited a fragmented court structure and infrastructure, which were largely derived from our colonial history and were subsequently further structured to serve the segregation objectives of the apartheid dispensation;

AND NOTING that, before the advent of the democratic constitutional dispensation in 1994, the Lower Courts were not constitutionally recognised as part of the judicial authority and were largely dealt with as an extension of the public service;

AND NOTING that, since the Constitution provides that the judicial authority is vested in all the courts, it is desirable to provide for a uniform framework for judicial management, by the judiciary, of the judicial functions of all courts;

AND RECOGNISING that the rationalisation envisaged by item 16(6)(a) of Schedule 6 to the Constitution is an on-going process that is likely to result in further legislative and other measures in order to establish a judicial system suited to the requirements of the Constitution,

PARLIAMENT of the Republic of South Africa enacts as follows:—

(2) Superior Courts may have such recess periods as may be determined by the Chief Justice in consultation with the Heads of Court and the Minister.

(3) The purpose of recess periods is to enable a judge of a Superior Court to do research and to attend to outstanding or prospective judicial functions that may be assigned to him or her by the head of court.

(4) During each recess period, the head of each Court must ensure that an adequate number of judges are available in that Court to deal with any judicial functions that may be required, in the interests of justice, to be dealt with during that recess period.

11. (1) (a) Subject to paragraph (b), the Minister must appoint for the Constitutional Court, the Supreme Court of Appeal and each Division a court manager, one or more assistant court managers, a registrar, assistant registrars and other officers and staff whenever they may be required for the administration of justice or the execution of the powers and authorities of the said Court.

(b) Any appointment by the Minister in terms of paragraph (a) must be made—

- (i) at the request of and in consultation with the head of the court; and
- (ii) in accordance with the laws governing the public service.

(c) Any person appointed in terms of paragraph (a) is in the employ of the Department and is subject to the laws governing the public service.

(d) A court manager is the senior executive officer of the court where he or she has been appointed, and exercises administrative control over the other persons referred to in paragraph (a), and, under the control and direction of the head of the Court concerned performs such other functions as may be determined by the Director-General and the Chief Justice.

(2) Whenever by reason of absence or incapacity any court manager, registrar or assistant registrar is unable to carry out the functions of his or her office, or if his or her office becomes vacant, the Minister may after consultation with the head of the court concerned, authorise any other competent officer in the public service to act in the place of the absent or incapacitated officer during such absence or incapacity or to act in the vacant office until the vacancy is filled.

(3) Any person appointed under subsection (1) may hold more than one of the offices mentioned in that subsection simultaneously.

(4) The Minister may delegate any of the powers vested in him or her under this section to an officer in the Department or Office of the Chief Justice.

CHAPTER 4

Manner of arriving at decisions in Superior Courts

Manner of arriving at decisions by Constitutional Court

12. (1) In accordance with section 167(2) of the Constitution, any matter before the Constitutional Court must be heard by at least eight judges.

(2) If, at any stage after a hearing has commenced, any judge of the Constitutional Court is absent or unable to perform his or her functions, or if a vacancy among the members of the court arises, and—

- (a) the remaining members of the court are not less than eight in number—
 - (i) such hearing must continue before the remaining judges of the court; and
 - (ii) the decision of the majority of the remaining judges of the court shall, if that majority is also a majority of the judges of the court before whom the hearing commenced, be the decision of the court; or
- (b) the remaining members of the court are fewer than eight in number, the proceedings must be stopped and commenced de novo.

(3) No judge may sit at the hearing of an appeal against a judgment or order given in a case which was heard before him or her.

Manner of arriving at decisions by Supreme Court of Appeal

13. (1) Proceedings of the Supreme Court of Appeal must ordinarily be presided over by five judges, but the President of the Supreme Court of Appeal may—

- (a) direct that an appeal in a criminal or civil matter be heard before a court consisting of three judges; or
- (b) whenever it appears to him or her that any matter should in view of its importance be heard before a court consisting of a larger number of judges, direct that the matter be heard before a court consisting of so many judges as he or she may determine.

(2) (a) The judgment of the majority of the judges presiding at proceedings before the Supreme Court of Appeal shall be the judgment of the court.

(b) Where there is no judgment to which a majority of such judges agree, the hearing must be adjourned and commenced de novo before a new court constituted in such manner as the President of the Supreme Court of Appeal may determine.

(3) If at any stage after the hearing of an appeal has commenced a judge of the Supreme Court of Appeal is absent or unable to perform his or her functions, or if a vacancy among the members of the Court arises—

- (a) the hearing must, where the remaining judges constitute a majority of the judges before whom the hearing was commenced, proceed before the remaining judges, and the decision of a majority of the remaining judges who are in agreement shall, if that majority is also a majority of the judges before whom the hearing was commenced, be the decision of the court; or
- (b) in any other case, the appeal must be heard de novo, unless all the parties to the proceedings agree unconditionally in writing to accept the decision of the majority of the remaining judges or, if only one judge remains, the decision of that judge as the decision of the Court.

(4) Two or more judges of the Supreme Court of Appeal, designated by the President of the Supreme Court of Appeal, have jurisdiction to hear and determine applications for interlocutory relief, including applications for condonation and for leave to proceed in forma pauperis, in chambers.

(5) No judge may sit at the hearing of an appeal against a judgment or order given in a case which was heard before him or her.

Manner of arriving at decisions by Divisions

14. (1) (a) Save as provided for in this Act or any other law, a court of a Division must be constituted before a single judge when sitting as a court of first instance for the hearing of any civil matter, but the Judge President or, in the absence of both the Judge President and the Deputy Judge President, the senior available judge, may at any time direct that any matter be heard by a court consisting of not more than three judges, as he or she may determine.

(b) A single judge of a Division may, in consultation with the Judge President or, in the absence of both the Judge President and the Deputy Judge President, the senior available judge, at any time discontinue the hearing of any civil matter which is being heard before him or her and refer it for hearing to the full court of that Division as contemplated in paragraph (a).

(2) For the hearing of any criminal case as a court of first instance, a court of a Division must be constituted in the manner prescribed in the applicable law relating to procedure in criminal matters.

(3) Except where it is in terms of any law required or permitted to be otherwise constituted, a court of a Division must be constituted before two judges for the hearing of any civil or criminal appeal: Provided that the Judge President or, in the absence of both the Judge President and the Deputy Judge President, the senior available judge, may in the event of the judges hearing such appeal not being in agreement, at any time before a judgment is handed down in such appeal, direct that a third judge be added to hear that appeal.

(4) (a) Save as otherwise provided for in this Act or any other law, the decision of the majority of the judges of a full court of a Division is the decision of the court.

(b) Where the majority of the judges of any such court are not in agreement, the hearing must be adjourned and commenced de novo before a court consisting of three other judges.

(5) If at any stage during the hearing of any matter by a full court, any judge of such court is absent or unable to perform his or her functions, or if a vacancy among the members of the Court arises, that hearing must—

(a) if the remaining judges constitute a majority of the judges before whom it was commenced, proceed before such remaining judges; or

(b) if the remaining judges do not constitute such a majority, or if only one judge remains, be commenced de novo, unless all the parties to the proceedings agree unconditionally in writing to accept the decision of the majority of the remaining judges or of the one remaining judge as the decision of the Court.

(6) The provisions of subsection (4) apply, with the changes required by the context, whenever in the circumstances set out in subsection (5) a hearing proceeds before two or more judges.

(7) During any recess period, one judge designated by the Judge President shall, notwithstanding anything contained in this Act or any other law, but subject to subsection (3), exercise all the powers, jurisdiction and authority of a Division.

(8) No judge may sit at the hearing of an appeal against a judgment or order given in a case which was heard before him or her.

CHAPTER 5

Orders of constitutional invalidity, appeals and settlement of conflicting decisions

Referral of order of constitutional invalidity to Constitutional Court

15. (1) (a) Whenever the Supreme Court of Appeal, a Division of the High Court or any competent court declares an Act of Parliament, a provincial Act or conduct of the President invalid as contemplated in section 172(2)(a) of the Constitution, that court must, in accordance with the rules, refer the order of constitutional invalidity to the Constitutional Court for confirmation.

(b) Whenever any person or organ of state with a sufficient interest appeals or applies directly to the Constitutional Court to confirm or vary an order of constitutional invalidity by a court, as contemplated in section 172(2)(d) of the Constitution, the Court must deal with the matter in accordance with the rules.

(2) If requested by the Chief Justice to do so, the Minister must appoint counsel to present argument to the Constitutional Court in respect of any matter referred to in subsection (1).

Appeals generally

16. (1) Subject to section 15(1), the Constitution and any other law—
(a) an appeal against any decision of a Division on appeal to it, lies to the Supreme Court of Appeal upon special leave having been granted by the Supreme Court of Appeal; and

(b) an appeal against any decision of a court of a status similar to the High Court, lies to the Supreme Court of Appeal upon leave having been granted by that court or the Supreme Court of Appeal, and the provisions of section 19 apply with the changes required by the context.

(2) (a) (i) When at the hearing of an appeal the issues are of such a nature that the decision sought will have no practical effect or result, the appeal may be dismissed on this ground alone.

(ii) Save under exceptional circumstances, the question whether the decision would have no practical effect or result is to be determined without reference to any consideration of costs.

(b) If at any time prior to the hearing of an appeal the President of the Supreme Court of Appeal or the Judge President or the judge presiding, as the case may be, is prima facie of the view that it would be appropriate to dismiss the appeal on the ground set out in paragraph (a), he or she must call for written representations from the respective parties as to why the appeal should not be so dismissed.

(c) Upon receipt of the representations or, failing which, at the expiry of the time determined for their lodging, the President of the Supreme Court of Appeal or the Judge President, as the case may be, must refer the matter to three judges for their consideration.

(d) The judges considering the matter may order that the question whether the appeal should be dismissed on the ground set out in paragraph (a) be argued before them at a place and time appointed, and may, whether or not they have so ordered—

(i) order that the appeal be dismissed, with or without an order as to the costs incurred in any of the courts below or in respect of the costs of appeal, including the costs in respect of the preparation and lodging of the written representations; or

(ii) order that the appeal proceed in the ordinary course.

(3) Notwithstanding any other law, no appeal lies from any judgment or order in proceedings in connection with an application—

(a) by one spouse against the other for maintenance pendente lite;

- (b) for contribution towards the costs of a pending matrimonial action;
- (c) for the interim custody of a child when a matrimonial action between his or her parents is pending or is about to be instituted; or
- (d) by one parent against the other for interim access to a child when a matrimonial action between the parents is pending or about to be instituted.

Leave to appeal

17. (1) Leave to appeal may only be given where the judge or judges concerned are of the opinion that—

- (a) (i) the appeal would have a reasonable prospect of success; or
- (ii) there is some other compelling reason why the appeal should be heard, including conflicting judgments on the matter under consideration;
- (b) the decision sought on appeal does not fall within the ambit of section 16(2)(a); and
- (c) where the decision sought to be appealed does not dispose of all the issues in the case, the appeal would lead to a just and prompt resolution of the real issues between the parties.

(2) (a) Leave to appeal may be granted by the judge or judges against whose decision an appeal is to be made or, if not readily available, by any other judge or judges of the same court or Division.

(b) If leave to appeal in terms of paragraph (a) is refused, it may be granted by the Supreme Court of Appeal on application filed with the registrar of that Court within one month after such refusal, or such longer period as may on good cause be allowed, and the Supreme Court of Appeal may vary any order as to costs made by the judge or judges concerned in refusing leave.

(c) An application referred to in paragraph (b) must be considered by two judges of the Supreme Court of Appeal designated by the President of the Supreme Court of Appeal and, in the case of a difference of opinion, also by the President of the Supreme Court of Appeal or any other judge of the Supreme Court of Appeal likewise designated.

(d) (i) The judges considering the application may order that it be argued before them at a time and place appointed, and may, whether or not they have so ordered, grant or refuse the application or refer it to the court for consideration.

(ii) Where an application has been so referred to the Court, the Court may thereupon grant or refuse it.

(e) The decision of the majority of the judges considering the application, or the decision of the Court, as the case may be, to grant or refuse the application shall be final: Provided that the President of the Supreme Court of Appeal may in exceptional circumstances, whether of his or her own accord or on application filed within one month of the decision, refer the decision to the court for reconsideration and, if necessary, variation.

(3) An application for special leave to appeal under section 16(1)(a) may be granted by the Supreme Court of Appeal on application filed with the registrar of that Court within one month after the decision sought to be appealed against, or such longer period as may on good cause be allowed, and the provisions of subsection (2)(c) to (e) shall apply with the changes required by the context.

(4) The power to grant leave to appeal—

- (a) is not limited by reason only of the fact that the matter in dispute is incapable of being valued in money; and

(b) is subject to the provisions of any other law which specifically limits it or specifically grants or limits any right of appeal.

(5) Any leave to appeal may be granted subject to such conditions as the court concerned may determine, including a condition—

(a) limiting the issues on appeal; or

(b) that the appellant pay the costs of the appeal.

(6) (a) If leave is granted under subsection (2)(a) or (b) to appeal against a decision of a Division as a court of first instance consisting of a single judge, the judge or judges granting leave must direct that the appeal be heard by a full court of that Division, unless they consider—

(i) that the decision to be appealed involves a question of law of importance, whether because of its general application or otherwise, or in respect of which a decision of the Supreme Court of Appeal is required to resolve differences of opinion; or

(ii) that the administration of justice, either generally or in the particular case, requires consideration by the Supreme Court of Appeal of the decision, in which case they must direct that the appeal be heard by the Supreme Court of Appeal.

(b) Any direction by the court of a Division in terms of paragraph (a), may be set aside by the Supreme Court of Appeal of its own accord, or on application by any interested party filed with the registrar within one month after the direction was given, or such longer period as may on good cause be allowed, and may be replaced by another direction in terms of paragraph (a).

(7) Subsection (2)(c), (d) and (e) apply with the changes required by the context to any application to the Supreme Court of Appeal relating to an issue connected with an appeal.

Suspension of decision pending appeal

18. (1) Subject to subsections (2) and (3), and unless the court under exceptional circumstances orders otherwise, the operation and execution of a decision which is the subject of an application for leave to appeal or of an appeal, is suspended pending the decision of the application or appeal.

(2) Subject to subsection (3), unless the court under exceptional circumstances orders otherwise, the operation and execution of a decision that is an interlocutory order not having the effect of a final judgment, which is the subject of an application for leave to appeal or of an appeal, is not suspended pending the decision of the application or appeal.

(3) A court may only order otherwise as contemplated in subsection (1) or (2), if the party who applied to the court to order otherwise, in addition proves on a balance of probabilities that he or she will suffer irreparable harm if the court does not so order and that the other party will not suffer irreparable harm if the court so orders.

(4) If a court orders otherwise as contemplated in subsection (1)—

(i) the court must immediately record its reasons for doing so;

(ii) the aggrieved party has an automatic right of appeal to the next highest court;

(iii) the court hearing such an appeal must deal with it as a matter of extreme urgency; and

(iv) such order will be automatically suspended, pending the outcome of such appeal.

(5) For the purposes of subsections (1) and (2), a decision becomes the subject of an application for leave to appeal or of an appeal, as soon as an application for leave to appeal or a notice of appeal is lodged with the registrar in terms of the rules.

Powers of court on hearing of appeals

19. The Supreme Court of Appeal or a Division exercising appeal jurisdiction may, in addition to any power as may specifically be provided for in any other law—

- (a) dispose of an appeal without the hearing of oral argument;
- (b) receive further evidence;
- (c) remit the case to the court of first instance, or the court whose decision is the subject of the appeal, for further hearing, with such instructions as regards the taking of further evidence or otherwise as the Supreme Court of Appeal or the Division deems necessary; or
- (d) confirm, amend or set aside the decision which is the subject of the appeal and render any decision which the circumstances may require.

Settlement of conflicting decisions in civil cases

20. Whenever a decision on a question of law is given by a court of a Division which is in conflict with a decision on the same question of law given by a court of any other Division, the Minister may submit such conflicting decisions to the Chief Justice, who must cause the matter to be argued before the Constitutional Court or the Supreme Court of Appeal, as the case may be, in order to determine the said question of law for guidance.

Provisions applicable to High Court only

Persons over whom and matters in relation to which Divisions have jurisdiction

(4) Notwithstanding any provision in this or any other law, any contractual obligation, term or provision which is in conflict with this section is null and void and is not enforceable.

Grounds for review of proceedings of lower court

22. (1) The grounds upon which the proceedings of any lower court may be brought under review before a court of a Division are—

- (a) absence of jurisdiction on the part of the court;
- (b) interest in the cause, bias, malice or corruption on the part of the presiding judicial officer;
- (c) gross irregularity in the proceedings; and
- (d) the admission of inadmissible or incompetent evidence or the rejection of admissible or competent evidence.

(2) This section does not affect the provisions of any other law relating to the review of proceedings in lower courts.

24. The time allowed for entering an appearance to a civil summons served outside the area of jurisdiction of the Division in which it was issued shall be not less than—

- (a) one month if the summons is to be served at a place more than 150 kilometres from the court out of which it was issued; and
- (b) two weeks in any other case.

Circumstances in which security for costs shall not be required

25. If a plaintiff in civil proceedings in a Division resides within the Republic, but outside the area of jurisdiction of that Division, he or she shall not by reason only of that fact be required to give security for costs in those proceedings.

Disposal of records and execution of judgments of Circuit Courts

26. (1) Within one month after the termination of the sittings of any Circuit Court, the registrar thereof must, subject to any directions of the presiding judge or judges, transmit all records in connection with the proceedings in that court to the registrar of the Supreme Court of Appeal or the Division concerned, as the case may be, to be filed as records of that Court or Division.

(2) Any judgment, order or sentence of a Circuit Court may, subject to any applicable rules for the time being in force, be carried into execution by means of process of the Supreme Court of Appeal or the Division concerned, as the case may be.

Removal of proceedings from one Division to another or from one seat to another in same Division

27. (1) If any proceedings have been instituted in a Division or at a seat of a Division, and it appears to the court that such proceedings—
(a) should have been instituted in another Division or at another seat of that Division; or
(b) would be more conveniently or more appropriately heard or determined—
(i) at another seat of that Division; or
(ii) by another Division,
that court may, upon application by any party thereto and after hearing all other parties thereto, order such proceedings to be removed to that other Division or seat, as the case may be.

(2) An order for removal under subsection (1) must be transmitted to the registrar of the court to which the removal is ordered, and upon the receipt of such order that court may hear and determine the proceedings in question.

Prohibition on attachment to found jurisdiction within the Republic

28. No attachment of property to found jurisdiction shall be ordered by a Division against a person who is resident in the Republic.

CHAPTER 7 Rules of court

32. Save as is otherwise provided for in this Act or any other law, all proceedings in any Superior Court must, except in so far as any such court may in special cases otherwise direct, be carried on in open court.

More than one court may sit at the same time

33. The Supreme Court of Appeal and any Division may at any time sit in so many courts constituted in the manner provided for in this Act or any other applicable law as the available judges may allow.

Part 2 Adducing of evidence and procedural matters

34. Whenever a judgment, order or other record of any Superior Court is required to be proved or inspected or referred to in any manner, a copy of such judgment, order or other record duly certified as such by the registrar of that court under its seal shall be prima facie evidence thereof without proof of the authenticity of such registrar's signature.

Manner of securing attendance of witnesses or production of any document or thing in proceedings and penalties for failure

35. (1) A party to proceedings before any Superior Court in which the attendance of witnesses or the production of any document or thing is required may procure the attendance of any witness or the production of any document or thing in the manner provided for in the rules of that court.

(2) Whenever any person subpoenaed to attend any proceedings as a witness or to produce any document or thing—

- (a) fails without reasonable excuse to obey the subpoena and it appears from the return of the person who served such subpoena, or from evidence given under oath, that—
- (i) the subpoena was served upon the person to whom it is directed and that his or her reasonable expenses calculated in accordance with the tariff framed under section 37(1) have been paid or offered to him or her; or
 - (ii) he or she is evading service; or
- (b) without leave of the court fails to remain in attendance,

(3) A person arrested under any such warrant may be detained thereunder in any prison or other place of detention or in the custody of the person who is in charge of him or her, with a view to securing his or her presence as a witness or production of any document or thing at the proceedings concerned: Provided that any judge of the court concerned may release him or her on a recognisance with or without sureties to attend as a witness or to produce any document or thing as required.

(4) Any person subpoenaed to attend any proceedings as a witness or to produce any document or thing who fails without reasonable excuse to obey such subpoena, is guilty of an offence and liable upon conviction to a fine or to imprisonment for a period not exceeding three months.

(2) If any person referred to in subsection (1) again refuses at the resumed hearing of the proceedings to do what is so required of him or her, the Court may again adjourn the proceedings and commit him or her for a like period and so again from time to time until such person consents to do what is required of him or her.

(3) Nothing contained in this section prevents the Court from giving judgment in any matter or otherwise disposing of the proceedings according to any other sufficient evidence taken.

(4) No person is bound to produce any document or thing not specified or otherwise sufficiently described in the subpoena unless he or she actually has it in Court.

(5) When a subpoena is issued to procure the attendance of any person as a witness or to produce any book, paper or document in any proceedings, and it appears that—
